Steps towards creation of eco system for quality research and transfer of Knowledge

Research Cell.

The unique feature of this research cell is to impart research skill to the students. The idea of the cell is to motivate young minds towards scientific and other research of contemporary interest, to become conscious on current related issues and challenges for long term sustainability of the ecosystem and to promote the role of students in various disciplines. With these broad objectives, research cell encourages various departments to carry out self financed minor research projects with the seed money obtained from the management.
